How Moravian Invests in You

Credit for what you know:

Turn your real-world experience into usable credentials with Prior Learning Credits to decrease the number of courses you need to take with us, saving you time and money.

The Windmill Foundation Scholarship:

This endowed scholarship provides financial assistance to students who share an active commitment to the community and use their voice to inspire others to value education.

The Charlotte Newcombe Scholarship:

This scholarship provides financial assistance to women over the age of 25 to help balance the financial responsibility of earning their degree and advancing their careers after graduation.

Leverage Every Resource: External Funding

Moravian’s financial aid options are just the start—plenty of external resources can help too.

FAFSA:

Moravian encourages all students to submit their Free Application for Federal Student Aid \(FAFSA\) to maximize any potential support from federal grants or loans. Moravian’s school code is 003301.

Private Scholarships:

Many private organizations offer scholarships and grants for adult students. Be sure to check out opportunities from professional institutes and associations in your field of study.

Employer-Sponsored Assistance:

Many organizations offer tuition reimbursement programs or financial assistance for employees pursuing higher education. If you are currently employed, check with your human resources department to see if educational benefits are available.

Private Loans:

Private loans through banks or credit unions may also be a viable option for educational funding. These loans typically include flexible repayment plans and can help bridge any gaps left by other forms of aid.

Ranked by numerous national media outlets among the best schools in the country, Moravian offers a world-class and affordable education.
